Office—No. 115 West Gold Avenue.

(From the Daily, Oct. 29)
Marcelo C. de Baca, superintendent of public schools, is making arrangements to build a residence in this city.

J. H. Allen, the smelter man of El Paso, who has been to California on business, was here yesterday. He left for the south last night.

Eldridge H. Booth, son of H. B. Booth, of this city, has received the appointment of postal clerk on the run from Rincon to Silver City.

J. A. Carruth, who conducts the best paper published in Las Vegas, the Free Press, is in the city. He likes to make visits to the territorial metropolis.

Mrs. T. H. Sears, wife of the efficient Santa Fe yardmaster here, came in from Newton, Kansas, Sunday night, and will remain with her husband for a few days.

Miss Birdie Bowen, a handsome young lady of Bernalillo, who has been spending a few days with her friend, Mrs. Matern, of this city, left for home last night.

John Wyosong, the old veteran, has received the first installment of his pension. He deserves it, and he should now resolve to spend his remaining days in comfort.

On Sunday, Nov. 8, a match shoot will take place between J. C. Martin and P. T. Isherwood, at the grounds of the Gun club, north of the city. The match is for $20 a side.

Rev. C. L. Howard, the new superintendent of missions, arrived in the city yesterday. His household goods are at the depot, and to-day he is looking for a dwelling house.

C. W. Eckhardt and C. O'Connor Roberts left early this morning for La Huerta canon in the Sandia mountains. They are interested in some good mining property in the canon.

Col. Albright is one of the executive committee of the fair association, and he should get together and make out a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the late fair.

Miss Nellie Driscoll has let the contract for a two-story brick house at the corner of Third street and Tijera avenue. The building will contain seven rooms, and cost about $6,000.

That Gran Quivira exploring party is augmenting, and by the time the papers arrive from Spain and Mexico a dozen or more of our adventurous citizens will be ready to make the trip.

George Hopping, of Trinidad, a good printer, is in the city. He is on his way to White Oaks, where he will assist in printing the Eagle, the new weekly paper which will be established there next month.

A. E. Walker, the district clerk at Santa Fe, will resign his position on November 1st, and again become a citizen of Albuquerque. He is needed right here, and will be given a hearty welcome home.

Mrs. C. A. Longstreet, a fine looking lady, who has been spending the summer in California, came in yesterday from the west, and left last night for the City of Mexico. The lady is a New Yorker.

Pat Higgins, the old boot-black, who is alleged to be worth considerable money, although his dirty appearance would not indicate such, is back again in the territorial metropolis. Since leaving here some few months ago he has traveled through nearly all the northwestern states and territories.

The wool season is recognized as practically over, and our wool buyers state that it is their opinion that the quantity of wool marketed here this fall, in fact all over the territory, is the smallest in ten years past. However, Albuquerque, which is regarded as the largest wool market in the southwest, has handled several million pounds.

Monday night Harry Lee, son of Judge Lee, left his "Safety" bicycle out over night on the front porch of his father's residence, and when he got up next morning the bicycle was gone. Harry has been using the wheel between the court house and the judge's residence, and now he can be observed trudging along to his meals on foot.

R. M. Barbour and family will leave next Sunday morning for Monterey, Mexico, where he is tendered a paying position in the Great National Smelter company. Mr. Barbour is a member of the city board of education and one of the most popular young men in Albuquerque. He has hundreds of friends here who wish him well in his new home.

Rev. M. T. E. Potter, a Methodist minister from Missouri, registered last night at the San Felipe. The reverend gentleman is a subject of consumption, and was out this morning endeavoring to find his pulpit associate, Rev. Bush, or any member of his family. Rev. Bush is at present in Eddy, while his family, so THE CITIZEN understands, is residing in Socorro.

Perfecto Armijo has received an invitation from Alberto Armijo, of Juarez, Mexico, a nephew of Mrs. Armijo, to attend the christening of his baby boy, which was born the other day. As soon as Mr. Armijo gets through with his present suit case, pending in court, he and his wife will make the trip to Juarez. It will be a grand feast day, that christening event, and many hundreds of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Armijo will attend.

Special Detective Keenan, of the Alameda & Pacific, came in from the west last night. He states that the wreck at Pineda is all cleared, and that trains are now running with their usual promptness.

Dr. J. L. Berry and W. F. Banks, representing the California Medicine company of San Francisco, are here to-day, and will sell mineral water salts on the street corner. Mr. Banks is accompanied by his wife.

James Barton, son of Judge Barton, of San Pedro, where he has been in the employ of the Copper company for the last two years, was here yesterday, and left last night for California. He will visit relatives and friends at Oakland.

The replevin case against J. Edward Priest, constable of precinct No. 12, for a list of groceries levied upon by him by virtue of an execution issued out of the court of Justice Madden, in favor of R. W. D. Bryan against Pascual Gutierrez, was decided yesterday morning by Justice Whiting, of old town, the verdict being against Mr. Priest. The defendant was represented by Messrs. Bryan and Hoesick, and the plaintiff by Messrs. Collier & Marston.

Gold avenue is increasing rapidly and the property, especially from Third street west, is a good in every respect. Plans for a pair of semi-detached row houses on the two lots of H. B. Ferguson, just beyond the Commercial club, are in the hands of Contractor and Builder Jenne, and to-day C. Grande, who will do the stone work, is making off the foundation and hauling stone to the site. Ed. Dodd will do the brick work. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000.

The Nansen Electric base ball club of Denver, the champion amateur team of Colorado, would like to close the season in Albuquerque in a match game with the Maroons, the champions of New Mexico and Arizona, but not since their return from El Paso of "the entire south-west." A letter has been mailed Manager McLaughlin that it would be impossible for the Maroons to offer them such inducements to justify them coming here. Next season the Nansens will be invited to come and cross bats with the Maroons, who will be re-organized at an early date and be in trim to meet all comers.

TWO KILLED.
A Terrible Shooting Affray at Holbrook, Arizona.

Holbrook, Arizona, was the scene this morning of a shooting affray, in which two men were shot and instantly killed. Roman Lopez and Rafael Chavez, two large sheep raisers from Conejo, in the southern part of Apache county, were in town, with a number of sheep herders, and had just disposed of their wool, amounting to several thousand pounds, to local buyers.

Besides the sheep men, there had congregated from the adjacent cattle ranches several cowboys, among them being Joseph Crawford and W. C. Bell.

About ten o'clock this morning the men assembled in the saloon of Tom Pickett, and soon a monte game with heavy betting was started, and a matter of course the whole party were indulging more or less in drinks and very boisterous. Soon afterwards a bitter row took place between the sheep men and the cowboys, when Crawford and Bell both pulled their six-shooters and fired simultaneously at Lopez and Chavez, who fell corpses to the floor.

The murderers backed themselves out of the saloon with their smoking revolvers in their hands, and on getting outside mounted their horses and escaped, going eastward. Every effort is being made to apprehend them.

Crawford was in the employ of Hill, of Springer, N. M., and is well known by all stockmen. Bell has for the past year been in the employ of the Aztec Cattle company.

Thanksgiving Eve Ball.
A largely attended special meeting of the members of the Ferguson Hook and Ladder company was held last night, and the parliamentarians present kept Secretary Ennis extremely busy keeping track of the various unique and important motions. He was equal to the emergency. Arrangements were perfected for a grand ball at Grant's opera house on Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 25, and the various committees appointed by the chair, which were heartily endorsed and ratified by the members. Arrangements were made with Mr. Miles of the Armijo to provide the dancers with an elegant supper at intermission time, and the gentleman states that the supper will be the finest set out on such an occasion. The order of dances will be arranged by the committee composed of musicians, and the programs, hand some in design, will be printed in due time. It is the desire of the Fergusonians to make this, their first annual ball, the grandest event of the season.

Midnight Thieves.
There called at the residence of Dr. C. E. Winslow last night and made a daring attempt to get his buggy horse from the stable. The gate leading into the lot and which had been securely fastened early in the evening, was found wide open this morning. The barn door was also found open and the halter taken from the horse. If C. Russell, a postal route agent, who with his wife has had charge of the doctor's residence during the latter's absence, arrived at the house about 1 o'clock this morning, and it is thought that the thieves were then scared away. The doctor is winner a good bribe, for the thieves in their hasty retreat left it behind, which was found this morning near the gate. Hereafter the doctor's faithful dog will sleep in the barn, and midnight prowlers must guard themselves in the future.

"COMP." IS DEAD.
Consumption Claims Printer Clarence S. Matthes.

Clarence S. Matthes, familiarly called by the printers of this city "Comp," Matthes, peacefully passed into the Great Unknown last night at 10 o'clock, at his parents' residence on South Armijo street on the Highlands.

The deceased came to New Mexico from Watertown, Wisconsin, where he was born on August 10, 1857, about twelve years ago, and has been off and on a resident of Albuquerque for at least ten years, working on the newspapers of this city and Santa Fe in various capacities. He was interested in several mines at Cerillos, and when not employed at the case, in a printing office, he was found digging for the precious metal.

Last August a year ago he was appointed to a postal run on the Southern Pacific road between Los Angeles and El Paso, and for months he faithfully performed the duties imposed on him by Uncle Sam. His wife, however, was weak, and the wet, foggy climate of southern California, together with an injury sustained in the postal service, permanently wrecked his constitution.

About five months ago, feeling that a rest was needed, he secured a leave of absence and came here from Los Angeles to recuperate his failing health, and after a month here he went back to southern California but did not resume work. Three months ago he again returned, a complete wreck of his former self, emaciated and weak, but he picked up a good deal of strength, and after two months he returned to Los Angeles. He made one run—the last one—and then came home last Sunday a week ago, where kind hands could administer to his wants, and after suffering for some time days the clouds parted and his last moments on earth ended without pain and in peace.

Two years ago, in November, in this city, he was joined for the second time in matrimony, his present wife, Mrs. Berdette Martin, with her five-month-old daughter, survives him. She is at Gallup, and a telegram announcing his demise was sent her this morning.

A father and mother, two brothers, Freddie and Edwin, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Olson, of this city, and Mrs. Dora DeWolf, are also left behind to mourn his departure.

"Peace to the ashes" of a fellow competitor and confidence to the bereaved family is the wish of THE CITIZEN.

The funeral will take place at the Congregational church to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Curtis officiating. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

(From the Daily, Oct. 29.)
Jack King, the brakeman, who was shot at Las Vegas, is rapidly recovering.

H. D. Johnson, the contractor, has purchased the Kahler cottage on Silver avenue, paying $1,350 for the property.

Frank Sturges, wife and son Lloyd are back from their trip to Chicago, where Mr. Sturges purchased furniture for his new lodging house.

Last night the wife of Chas. Yondorf, the Gold avenue auctioneer and dealer in second-hand goods, gave birth to a baby girl. Congratulations.

John J. Keegan, a business man of Gallup, and wife, are here to-day. Mr. Keegan is here as an important witness in a case before the district court.

Capt. H. H. Kibbe, who has charge of the Atlantic & Pacific water pump at Rio Puerco, came in from the west last night. He will remain here a few days.

Miss Lizzie Brockman, a relative of John Brockman of Grant county, and Miss Rosa Fears, came in this morning from Coolidge, N. M., and are registered at the Armijo.

W. A. Walker has received the appointment of superintendent of the street car line. He is the right man for the place, and everything will move smoothly under his management.

George Gansley, a cousin of Jacob Gansley, will arrive in the city to-morrow night from Atlanta, Ga., and will accept a position in the clothing store of W. C. Leonard & Co.

There are rumors that Mr. Hurd, late editor of the Democrat, is being lured away by leading democrats of the city, and will at an early date start a newspaper, red hot democratic paper.

The wheelbarrow crank left this morning at 7 o'clock for New York. As he wheeled down Railroad avenue from Second street to the depot several persons on the street wished him success.

Col. J. S. Jarard, business manager of the Beebe-Barbour Comedy company, which is to appear at Grant's opera house next Monday night, registered at the Armijo last evening. He is billing the city to-day.

Oliver Carter, the colored hack driver who accidentally shot himself with a shot gun while out hunting recently, the charge tearing away the top muscle of the thigh of the left leg, is reported getting along nicely this morning.

Yesterday in old town Justice Whiting sent Abran Rodriguez to jail for petty larceny. He was fined $20 and costs, and failing to pay was jailed. He is the man who was tried at a recent term of court and acquitted of the charge of killing a man at Copper City.

Roman Lopez, one of the sheep men killed at Holbrook, Arizona, yesterday morning, was a brother in law of Gabriel Armijo, a former street car driver, residing in old town. The first intimation of the horrible double murder was gleaned from THE CITIZEN.

At last night's meeting of the G. K. Warren post, No. 5, G. A. R., it was decided to hold a camp-fire and ball at the Armory on November 11. The object is to secure funds to push the investigation of the murder of their late comrade, Daniel R. Wooten.

C. H. Hurley, the bare back rider and all round equestrian of the plains, who has been working for the Latta Cattle company near Coolidge, is in the city, and will go out to the Antelope Springs cattle ranch, where he was formerly employed, to-morrow.

Policeman Chavez, when coming on duty this morning, noticed two vagrants sleeping at the railroad end house, and run them in. They will be valuable members on the chain gang for the next ten days.

Adolfo O. Otero and wife will next week take a trip through Colorado. Mr. Otero is one of the best citizens of Albuquerque, and has shown his faith in the city by expending thousands of dollars in good buildings. He and his estimable wife deserve a good vacation.

The bridle which the thieves left at Dr. C. E. Winslow's stable, when they called in doubt to steal his buggy and nag, belonged to J. A. Johnson, and fitted the head of the racer, Speculation. The bridle was first stolen from Mr. Johnson. Notice to the thieves.

Married, on Tuesday evening, to Justus H. R. Whiting, Richard O'Neil and Miss Petra Harrison. Last evening he was in harness. Mr. Whiting and Mrs. Minnie Stein. The latter couple participated on a wedding tour to Ohio, taking with them Mrs. Young's oldest daughter, Emma.

Mrs. W. M. Maynard, wife of Major Maynard, one of the paymasters of the United States army located here for the past two years, is recovering from a week's illness, and they will proceed to San Francisco, where the major has recently been assigned, on to-morrow's west bound Atlantic & Pacific passenger train.

Miss Bertha M. May, the accomplished assistant clerk at the government Indian school, left the city yesterday morning with two Indian pupils for the Pima agency in southern Arizona. This is Miss May's first trip to the home of the noble red man and dusky maiden. She expects to bring back to the school some of the native arts and crafts. Pima tribes, the Chiricahua, Papago, the large, sturdy Mohaves and the tall, peaceful Yumas.

Thieves in the court room at the court house acted badly this morning, and only prompt work prevented a serious fire. After the janitor had lighted the fire he left the room. The stove became on afterward very hot, and in that condition an explosion occurred. The top of the stove was thrown off, red hot coals were scattered in all directions, and the room was full of fire and smoke. It took for a few moments like the hand some stone structure would go up in flames, but timely aid prevented any such disaster.

E. S. Stover returned home last night from a two months' trip through the east and south. He reports that all business is reviving, money becoming more plentiful and everyone feeling jubilant over future prospects. While in Washington he did not forget the Territorial university, and secured through his friend, Major Leslie J. Perry, of the war records office, a complete set of the records of the rebellion for the university. He also secured all the publications of the interior department for the institution. He is glad to get home, and says the mining enterprise he was looking after is sure to be successful.

Laid to Rest.
The funeral of Clarence S. Matthes, the dead printer, occurred from the Congregational church this morning, and the services were extremely sorrowful. Undertaker Montfort with Rev. Christie first marched down the aisle of the church, followed by the pall-bearers with the coffin, then the weeping wife on the arm of Fred Matthes, a brother, and then followed the parents and intimate friends, who were seated on the front seats. When the minister announced the first song "Nearer My God to Thee," and the choir sang it sweetly, there was hardly a dry eye among the audience. An appropriate chapter in the New Testament was read by Rev. Christie, after which the choir sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul." The sermon which followed was brief, but the words were noble, the tribute to the dead and command to the weeping relatives and friends to trust in God was indeed touching. After the song, "Thy Will Be Done," the lid of the coffin, upon which were placed several bouquets of flowers, was removed and those who desired looked upon the face of the dead. The remains were buried in Fairview cemetery.

The family of the deceased desire THE CITIZEN to thank those of our citizens who rendered assistance during his illness, and offered their condolence when his eyes were closed in death.

The Worst Yet.
The entertainment at Grant's opera house last night by the English Gaiety Girls Burlesque company was "no good," there not appearing a redeeming feature of the whole performance. Only a few ladies, outside of those from a certain quarter of the city, were noticed in the audience, and it is safe to assert that they regretted the purchase of tickets. Whenever a baldheaded individual marched down the aisle to a front seat, those who had preceded him would give the forehead baldheaded guest until his whole face would become red from blushes. That long-legged, sparsely constructed, black corked individual, called Peck, was once one of the star performers when a small show was conducted in the rear of the Montezuma several years ago. The fellow who came out on the stage and was asked by the audience to "give them a rest," was picked up in Las Vegas. The girls were not above the ordinary Vaudeville class in beauty or form, while their acting was rank. From all indications the Gaiety Girls are almost on their last legs and will die from no support before traveling many more miles.

The itching of the scalp, falling of the hair, resulting in baldness, are often caused by dandruff, which may be cured by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

LINELY TO GET WELL.
Jack King not Dangerously Wounded—Harris Captures.

The result of a surgical examination made in the case of Jack King, shot Monday morning at Las Vegas, by Freight Conductor Harris, (an account appearing in THE CITIZEN of yesterday) reveals the pleasing fact that the ball did not penetrate the abdominal cavity, but was deflected around the body. It is supposed to be pressing upon some spinal plexus of nerves that radiate into the upper extremities, he suffers from considerable numbness of both arms. He is resting easy and so in a comfortable condition as could be expected. It is certainly much to be desired that he shall recover, both on his own account and that of the man who so rashly and without cause attempted his life.

As THE CITIZEN stated yesterday, Harris, after doing the shooting, fled southward and was captured at Bernal, a station one-hundred miles south of Las Vegas. Arriving at Bernal he made a confident of the night operator, telling him of what he had done in the shooting of King and of his plan of escape into Mexico. It was about midnight, and he then set about to wait for the coming of the south and freight train, No. 31.

The Bernal operator at once telegraphed Train Despatcher Matthen at Las Vegas that he was going to Bag No. 31. "What for?" was asked. "You know," was replied. Mr. Matthen at once took the hint, and with a quickness of decision worthy of the highest prize, stopped all trains immediately. In a few moments, Tim O'Leary and Billy Long, the Las Vegas depot police, were on their way to Bernal as fast as steam could take them.

The officers found Harris seated in the Bernal waiting room, all unconscious that the messengers of justice were upon him. At first he attempted to seize O'Leary's gun, but he soon saw that resistance was worse than useless, and suffered himself to be taken back to the scene of his shooting.

(From the Daily, Oct. 30.)
A. G. Hanson, a prominent gentleman of Maxwell, N. M., is here to-day.

J. Greenwald and wife, of San Francisco are visiting the metropolis.

Jose Leon Teller, a wealthy sheep man of San Rafael, Valencia county, is at the European in the west.

James Lucas, the coal mine owner of Los Cerillos, came down from that thriving little town this morning.

Post Commander Denham wishes in formation relating to the death of J. Q. A. Porter, who died in this city in 1883.

Jefferson Reynolds, the banker, came down from Las Vegas last night, and has his name on the register at the Armijo.

M. W. Brown, cashier of the Socorro National bank, of which S. M. Fosom of this city is president, is here to-day on business.

R. F. Heller, the Cabezon merchant, came in from the Rio Puerco country last night, and will remain in the city for a few days.

Pease & Hebrine, civil engineers and surveyors, will occupy a suite of splendid office rooms, Nos. 15 and 16, in the Cromwell building.

Fifteen thousand copies of Governor Prince's recent address at the Albuquerque fair are being distributed by the Bureau of Immigration.

Grace Eden, the Georgia wonder, who was billed to appear in this city last Monday evening, is suffering from nervous prostration and has gone to Denver.

M. W. Chase, an old timer of New Mexico, owner of a fine stock ranch in Colfax county, was in the city yesterday to see S. M. Fosom on some important business.

S. B. Hibben, of Los Angeles, member of the Flagstaff sand stone company, with H. Clements, came in from the west last night and registered at the San Felipe.

The campfire and ball of the G. K. Warren post, No. 5, G. A. R., at the Armory on November 11, is to raise funds to fully investigate into the murder of Daniel P. Wooten.

The case of George Oxendine vs. the city of Albuquerque, as garnish, tried yesterday afternoon before Justice Madden, was decided against the city. Attorney Dubson appealed the case.

The body of Roman Lopez who was killed at Holbrook, Arizona, the other day, passed through the city last night for Las Vegas, where the dead man had relatives and where the remains will be buried.

The ladies of the Congregational church will give an oyster supper at the church next Thursday night. It will be a grand affair, for there will be home made candy at the supper and plenty for pulling for the young folks.

H. M. Howick & Co., the wool merchants, purchased this morning, about 22,000 pounds of wool. Rafael Mora, of Casa Salazar, sold about 7000 pounds at $13.75 per hundred pounds, and Tomas Sanchez, of Atrisco, 15,000 pounds at $15.50 per hundred.

Samuel N. Dedrick, cattle owner and inspector of cattle brands and ear marks for Socorro county, is in the city from Magdalena. He is here on business, but at the same time will join with the Albuquerqueans in entertaining the Y. M. C. A. editors to-morrow.

O. W. Eaton, a wealthy sheep buyer of Wood River, Neb., is in the city, and will leave this evening for Magdalena. He purchased the other day, through J. B. Manby, a stock broker of Trinidad, several thousand head of sheep from the Latta brothers of Las Lunas.

W. N. Kurtz, representing the Hall & O'Donald Lithographic Company of Topeka, Kan., is at the San Felipe. Mr. Kurtz, who is one of the most observing of commercial travelers, reports that towns he has visited are more prosperous this fall than ever before. He states that Pueblo is all excited over the location of the new federal building, and that one Gordon, a real estate agent, is being handled without gloves by the citizens, for misrepresenting certain facts to the government.

Mr. and Mrs. Art. L. Smith, who had charge of the Scott Moore ranch, near the city, the past summer, left last night for Adrian, Mich. Mr. Smith is a consumptive, on the very verge of the grave, and goes home to end his last days on earth among relatives and life long friends. For two weeks he has been sick at the Windsor hotel.

H. B. Ferguson, who is one of the appointed delegates from New Mexico to the miners' convention which convenes in Denver from Nov. 18th to 25th, inclusive, stated this morning that he will attend, being accompanied by his wife. They will probably extend their trip to Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. Ferguson has also been asked to be one of the city delegates to the miners' convention which meets in El Paso, Dec. 15. He will attend.

J. A. Johnson, of this city, and Messrs. McCormick and Legg, of Chicago, owners of a horse ranch in Socorro county, about a week ago went out to their ranch and found a man named Brown in full possession, having jumped the ranch and was taking it easy and comfortable in their house. The gentlemen remonstrated with Brown and finally ordered him off the premises. He vacated the premises at once and left for Socorro, where he swore out warrants against Messrs. Johnson, McCormick and Legg, charging them with assault with a deadly weapon. The case came on for trial at Socorro Wednesday and was concluded yesterday, a verdict of not guilty being reached in favor of the defendants. W. B. Childers of this city represented Messrs. Johnson, McCormick and Legg.

The Zeiger Sale.
This morning the purchase of all of Chas. Zeiger's property on the two lots, corner of First street and Railroad avenue, by Wm. Frazer, the Chitlin sheep raiser, for $42,000, was fully consummated by the gentleman giving his check for the cash consideration demanded.

The property includes what is known as the "Metropolitan" resort, and the small frame building on the Railroad avenue site occupied by Morelli, with the ground, and has been considered the most valuable location in the city. It is Mr. Frazer's intention to tear down the Morelli building at an early day, and erect instead a two story brick business building. The gentleman is to be congratulated upon his purchase.

Mr. Zeiger, so he informs THE CITIZEN, will go east in a short time to hunt a market for about 1000 steers, which are now in splendid condition on his Apache county, Arizona, cattle ranch.

Library Delegates.
A special train of two Pullman sleepers, one observation coach, one dining car and one baggage coach, containing forty-three eastern delegates, gentlemen and ladies, to the recently adjourned convention of the American Library association at San Francisco, arrived from the west at the depot here at 11:30 a. m. Among the delegates are S. S. Green, of Worcester, Mass., the retiring president, and K. A. Lindefelt, of Milwaukee, the newly elected president. The train remained at the depot until 12 o'clock, when it pulled out under Conductor S. A. Hardy, for Santa Fe, where the delegates will enjoy a part of the afternoon in visiting the sights of the ancient capital. In the evening the train will proceed to the Las Vegas hot springs, where to-morrow will be spent. J. P. McWilliams, tourist agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, is in charge of the party. E. F. Burnett, traveling passenger agent of the Santa Fe road, met Mr. McWilliams here and will accompany him a part of the way east. Conductor Barney brought in the special from Winslow.

Death of Walter Trumbull.
From the Chicago Tribune it is learned that Walter Trumbull, formerly a resident of this city, son of ex-Senator Lyman Trumbull, died at his father's residence, No. 4008 Lake avenue, Chicago, from consumption. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. W. Wilson, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, were held last Tuesday afternoon at the family residence. Mr. Trumbull leaves a widow and two sons, aged 12 and 7 years.

Walter Trumbull was born in Springfield, Ill., in 1846, and after completing the public school course there entered the Naval academy at Newport, R. I., from which institution he resigned at the close of the war in order to make an extended voyage to the Vandalia, Capt. Lee. On his return from his travels he took up the profession of journalism and was connected with the New York Sun for two years. He married Miss Slater, a step-daughter of James H. Roberts, of Springfield, Ill. Ten years ago his health began to fail, and by the advice of his physician he removed with his family to Albuquerque, N. M., where he was admitted to the bar. His health not permitting him to practice law, he engaged in mercantile business in Albuquerque. Two years ago he was compelled to abandon all business and devote his time to the care of his health. One winter he spent at the Sanitarium, Denville, New York, and another at Battle Creek, Mich., without finding much relief. He and family were in Albuquerque a few months ago, and it was remarked at the time that he was rapidly declining. He remained only a short time, returning to his father's residence in Chicago.

Important Line.
Albuquerque has raised a subscription list of seven thousand dollars and commenced the survey of a line for a railroad from Farmington, in San Juan county, direct to Albuquerque. This is to be a part of the new railroad between Albuquerque and Durango. It is the most important and feasible railroad project now current in Albuquerque, and if anything were needed to that end, will insure the construction of eastern and southeastern connections at that point. The next thing for the metropolis of New Mexico to do is to push the Denver & Rio Grande to a connection at Deming with the Mexican road.—Deming Headlight.

MILITIA MATTERS.
Report of Inspecting Officer National Guard of Mexico.

Capt. E. J. McClelland, of the Second cavalry, United States army, inspecting officer of the National Guard of New Mexico, who was here during the late territorial fair, has made his report to the inspector general of the United States army at Washington, D. C. The City of Mexico acknowledges a copy of the report but as it is too lengthy for entire publication, only a few of the extracts are used. After paying his compliments to Gov. Prince and Col. Fletcher, adjutant general of the territory, and telling of the present condition of the territorial militia, which he characterizes as "lady demoralized on account of the failure of the militia to pay its militia certificates issued by Gov. Sheldon and his during the Indian outbreaks, and commencing a new start in the lag of encouragement from the legislature, the captain says:

This lack of encouragement, principally in the shape of money, has until now nearly paralyzed all efforts to put the militia on a proper footing, but recently some younger and thoroughly enthusiastic men (principally company officers) have come to the front with the determination that the small militia force shall be made a success. This feeling has brought about a reorganization of the militia with a general staff and two regiments, reported by the adjutant general as follows: L. Bradford Prince, governor and commander in chief; Winfield S. Fletcher, adjutant-general and chief of staff, ex-officio quartermaster and commissary, adjutant-general, with rank of colonel; John Symington, Santa Fe, surgeon-general with rank of colonel; Fletcher A. Blake, Las Vegas, inspector-general, with rank of colonel.

First Regiment of Cavalry: Col. Albert J. Fountain, Las Cruces, commanding. One lieutenant colonel, 2 majors, 1 surgeon, 1 chaplain, an adjutant and 1 quartermaster.
